PATRIOT

Every student has his own ideas of what makes a good teacher; one who respects the individual and his ideas, one who encourages the student to question and to think for himself, who makes learning enjoyable, who gives of himself and is deeply concerned with the school.

There are many such teachers at Patrick Henry, to any of whom we could dedicate our yearbook. The choice has been a difficult one, but for these, and all your other outstanding qualities, we dedicate the 1967 Patriot to you, Mrs. Mary F. Brooks.

. . . so many "unusual" events occurred at P.H. this year?

There was a time when anyone who didn't have a cast on just wasn't "in" (1). Some students were lucky enough to talk to Santa Claus (2), but for the underprivileged, we provided our own St. Nick (3). At Homecoming, these jolly faces (4) graced P.H.'s Pumpkin Patch while cars (5) adorned GE rooms. (6) Fresh paint on the outside columns was just too much to resist. (7) and (8) we leave to your imagination.

Mr. A. Carl Nave, Dean, McQuilkin Hall; Mr. C. Lewis Pitzer, Jr., Principal; Mr. Ben L. Taylor, Dean, Persinger Hall; and Mr. Don Bartol, Dean, Parsons Hall; meet often to insure administrative efficiency for the school.

Principal and Deans Exert Strong Leadership

Patience, understanding, and the ability to cope with student problems are a few of the many personality traits needed to fill a school administrative position.

Although Mr. C. Lewis Pitzer, Jr. has been principal for just two years, he has done an outstanding job and is well-respected by the community as well as by students and teachers. The success or failure of any school-related activity lies in Mr. Pitzer's hands. He approves all school-sponsored projects, conducts business related to the school, makes improvements whenever necessary, yet remains willing to receive helpful suggestions from patrons, teachers, or students.

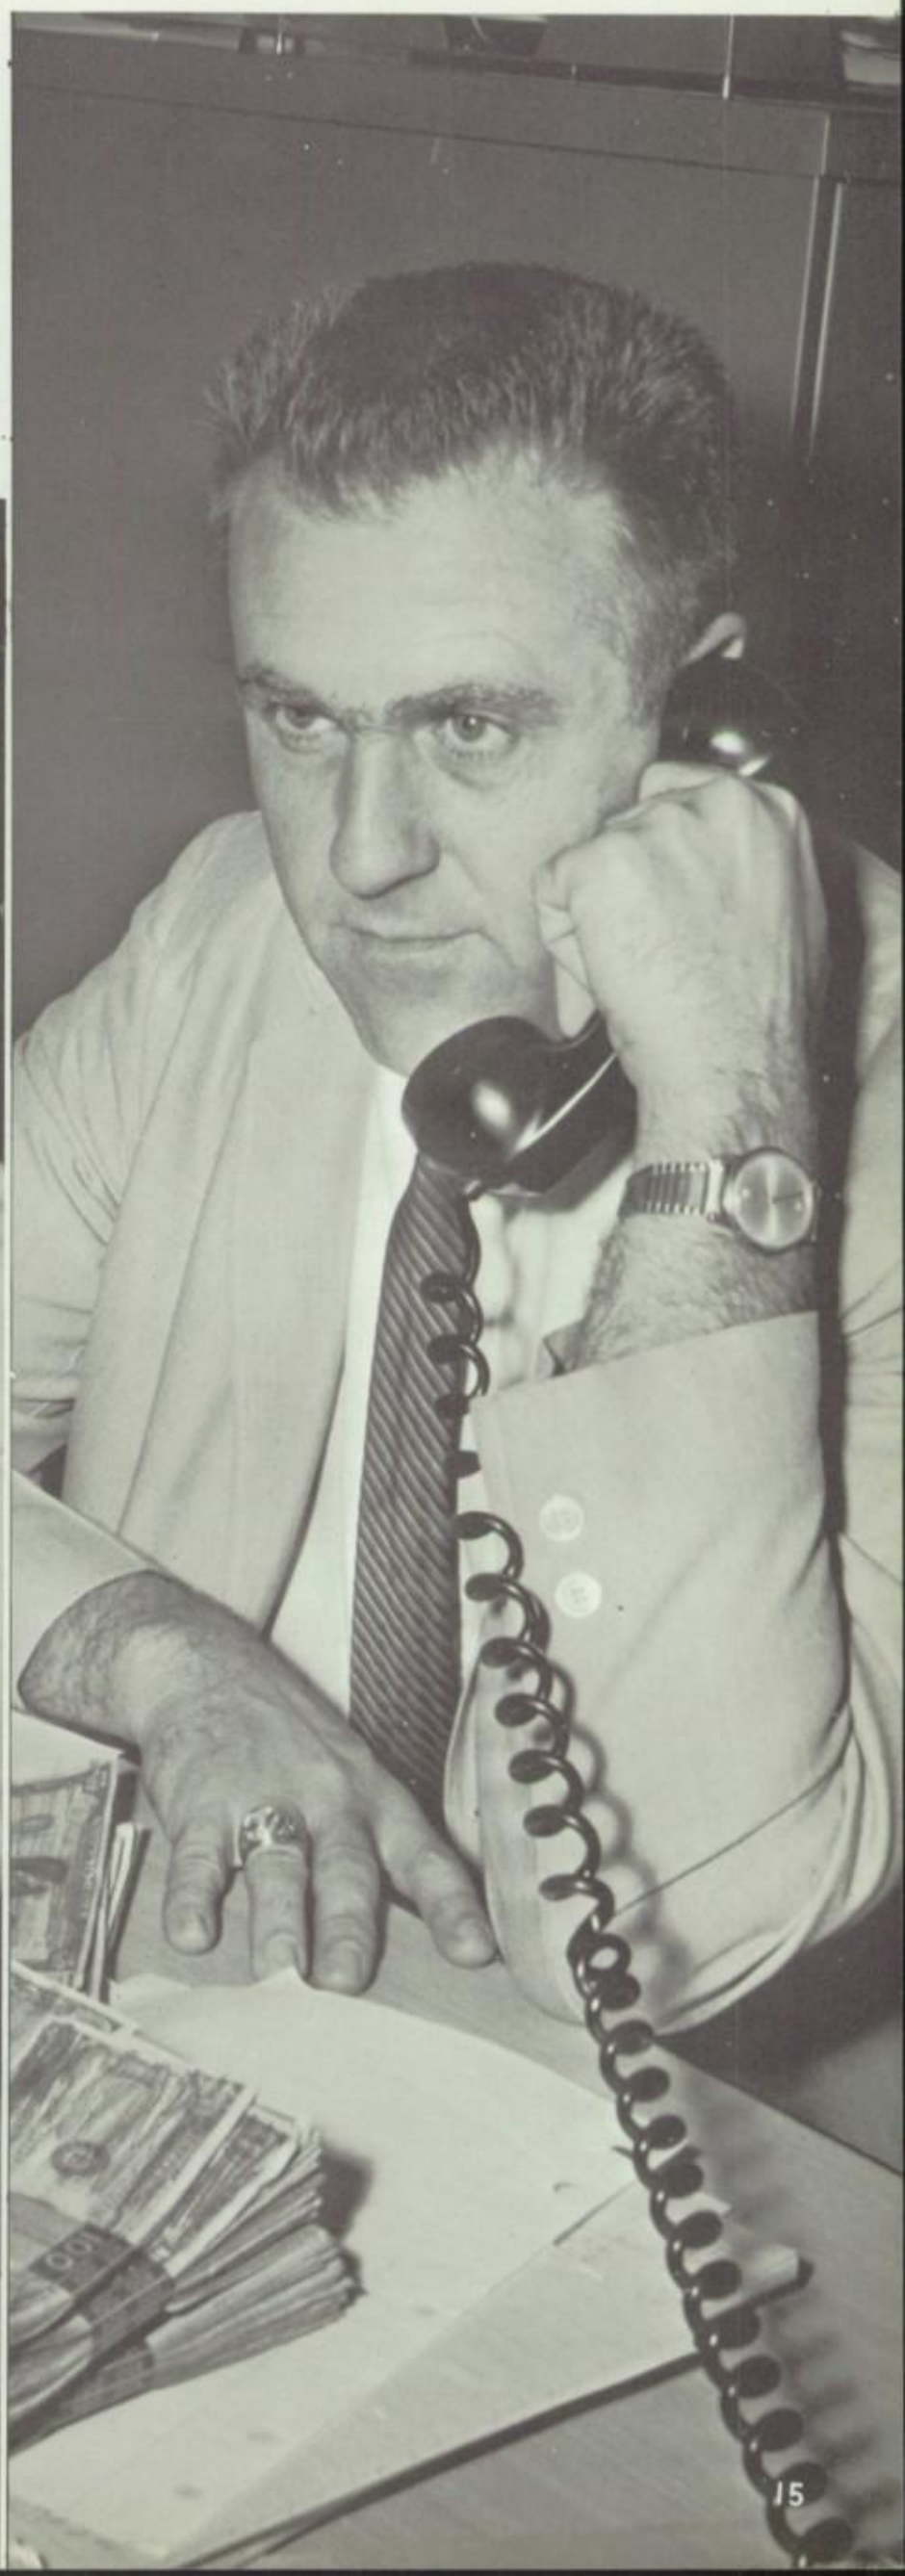
Three deans supervise the activities of the halls. Mr. Bartol, dean of Parsons Hall, Mr. Nave, dean of McQuilkin Hall, and Mr. Taylor, dean of Persinger Hall, can be seen almost every day discussing personal or scholastic problems with students. The deans coordinate all office procedures and readily handle all situations concerning the individual halls.

Maintaining Records Is Monumental Task

Reducing flesh-and-blood students and teachers to paper-and-ink statistics is the chore assigned to Mrs. Lillian Clingenpeel and Miss Carol Cundiff. IBM records, rank-in-class for all graduating seniors, local, state and federal reports, correspondence, and the ever-present telephone demand the best efforts of these hard working ladies who are always ready with a smile for every visitor to the front office. Mrs. Grant, a local television personality during off-duty hours, is Mr. Graybill's smiling assistant at school.

Mrs. Clingenpeel and Miss Cundiff do a last minute check on a report as Mrs. Grant asks about their mailing schedule. (Top) Miss Cundiff, with Mr. Bishop and Miss Shanks, stars in the melodrama, "The Lighthouse Keeper's Daughter."

George Graybill, Director of Student Activities, is one of the busiest people on campus. He counts, and accounts for, about $150,000 in school funds each year. His work includes scheduling all athletic events, distributing textbooks and audio-visual aids, chartering buses for student trips, keeping the school supplies and ticket sales in order, serving as financial advisor to clubs and publications, and teaching driver education.



McQuilkin Hall's Mrs. Miller and the English 10 class she teaches enjoy learning from audio-visuals.

Looking Ahead—With The Aid Of Counseling

Looking for college or job information, some needed counseling, or the results from a standardized test? See the Guidance Department, one of the busiest parts of our school.

With emphasis on group guidance this year, the counselors showed several filmstrips and were hosts for College Day for the four city high schools. Over seventy representatives from all types of colleges and technical schools were present to answer questions and give students information about their programs.

In addition to visiting colleges, receiving campus representatives, holding Parent's Night, meeting with other area counselors, preparing transcripts, giving references, administering tests, and counseling individual students, each guidance counselor also teaches a class.

Miss Martin takes note of former students listed in Who's Who.

Mr. Vandergrift of Parsons Hall keeps student records current.

Mrs. Ward, guidance coordinator, helps Alice Grady with college information.

They Work Behind The Scenes

1. Some days Mr. Holdren seems to spend most of his time picking up after Patriots. 2. In addition to the regular plate, Mrs. Moses fixes extras for students. 3. Before the students arrive, Mrs. Eggleston comes in and prepares to work. 4. Behind the lunch counter our cafeteria workers assemble to meet the herd.

1. A look of apprehension crosses the faces of Mr. and Mrs. McFarland as the "hat for the aspirin dollar" is passed. 2. Parents listen to a description of the community college plan. 3. Ann Thornton receives immediate attention from Mrs. Hamilton in the clinic. 4. College Day provides students and their parents with the opportunity to question three schools of their choice.

Parents Back Students

Few Patriots know the actual function of the Parent-Teacher Association. Among their goals and objects are the welfare of children in school and community, and the development of physical, mental, and social education.

Our parents are well known for manning the frequently visited Health Clinic and for providing it with all its necessities. Countless numbers of parents bring their children to and from school on cold, damp, or rainy days. The responsibility of transporting band members, cheerleaders, and club members falls on the shoulders of these untiring parents.

Besides everyday tasks, the PTA sponsors special events each year. These projects include sending a boy and girl as delegates to Boy's and Girl's State, and sponsoring an Honors Banquet and a tea for College Day.

Illiteracy Beware!

The English Department takes upon itself the impossible chore of educating the masses in poetry, literature, composition, grammar, and usage.

Just as there are many ways to learn, so are there just as many ways to learn them. Liberal discussions of literature, thoughtful interpretation of poetry, long written assignments, the plain old lecture, model essays, traditional or that strange NVN type grammar, films (always good for an hour); teachers try them all to encourage students to reach a degree of literacy, and, hopefully, advance to appreciation.

Ideas From History

Alert to the many theories of government and economics, students watched with interest the shifting of power in the communist world; the experiment in "pure communism" announced by the Cuban leader, Fidel Castro; the rise of the Red Guards in China; the elections in India; the distribution of the state sales tax; the planning of the bond issue to provide capital improvements for the city of Roanoke; and student elections.

Their interest in political ideology began in history and government classes. This training helps them evaluate news stories, political speeches, and campaign literature, and aids them in becoming intelligent voting citizens.

But, you say, history is a record of the past. True, but students of history feel strongly that a nation which forgets its past is doomed to repeat its mistakes. This approach gives a basis for evaluation of the present in the light of the past and leads many students into elective courses—Contemporary American, Contemporary European, and World History.

Business Is Booming!

As more and more colleges require a foreign language, our language department's business is booming. Four years of Spanish, French, Latin, and Russian are offered. Attention is paid to the speaking and comprehending of a language as well as to the grammatical aspects.

A foreign language aids a student in English, in understanding cultures, philosophies, peoples, parallels and differences between countries and civilizations, history of language, and travel.

Students are taking advantage of the fourth year Russian course for the first time this year. They are in a combination class with third year students. As in other languages, stories and novels are read and discussed in that particular language.

101 = 5 — Prove It!

101 = 5? It certainly does when 101 is in base 2. This is an easy example in the contemporary curriculum which teaches students to think for themselves.

"Contract Mathematics," a program allowing three years to complete Algebra I and Geometry, is the newest addition to the ever-changing class offerings. This course was established to meet the needs of more students, a primary goal of the math teachers. Other courses offered include General Math, Basic Math, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Analytical Math, and Calculus.

The use of commercial and student-made models and trips of various school facilities helps students understand such basic concepts as three dimensional figures and such practical aspects as food costs. Nation-wide tests are used to assist students in self-evaluation and to aid teachers in maintaining a current curriculum.

Teachers and advanced students tutor those who need extra help with the hope that all will learn to understand math.

Snidow fackle a problem. 8. Solid figures occupy much of Miss Hartman's time.

Opportunity And Variety In Science

Ten different courses are made available to students in the Science Department. Serving as a prerequisite to further study in science are the physical science courses, including, for the first time, Quantitative Physical Science. In order to graduate, all students are required to take at least one laboratory course. Those people wishing a general, yet well-rounded program, may take biology or general chemistry. Students having a high academic record and wishing to develop their scientific knowledge are given the opportunity to take Advanced Biology, Chemistry, and Physics.

This diversified curriculum, the goal of our Science Department, gives students opportunity in preparing for a future academic life and in learning general techniques for the commercial world.

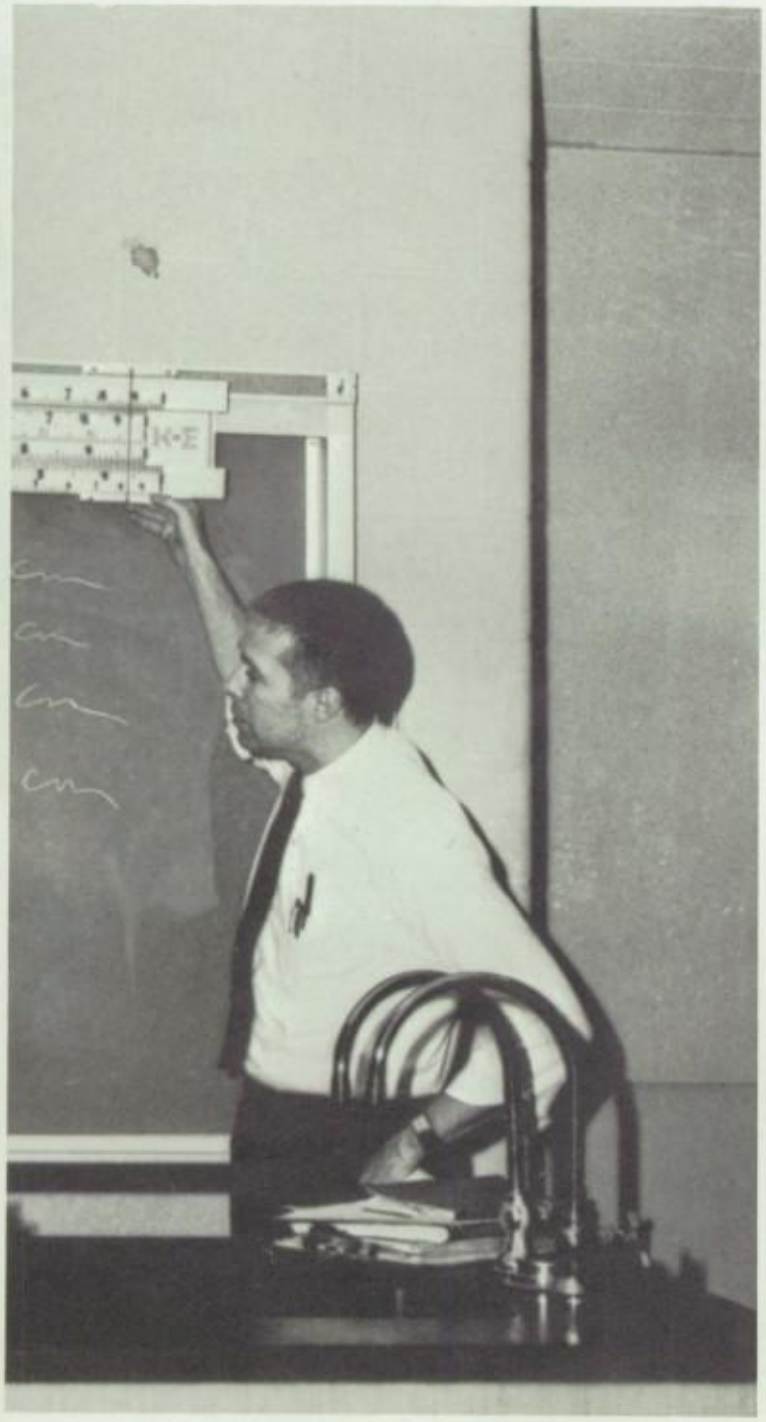
Since experiments are often messy, Mrs. Shepherd takes out a protective lab coat.

Students listen carefully as Mrs. Dickerson explains the structure of the living cell.

Baffled about an assignment, Scott Haskins seeks the help of Mrs. Gill.

Advanced Biology students check their blood pressure.

Microscopes, dissection kits, and an apparatus for magnifying protozoan, are often used in laboratory practices.



Practical use of the slide rule is shown by Mr. Snoddy.

Mr. Holland discusses a physics problem with Roger Magerkurth and Vic Brugh.

Miss Cooper gives extra time to help students.

Girls of the alto section of the Freshman Choir learn to read music by sight.

Capturing everyone's interest in the fourth period art class, Joe Meredith shows slides as Mrs. Kelly explains to the class.

A fire drill forces a welcome break for sixth period band.

Mrs. Kelly watches as Helen Robertson does a Quill illustration.

Under Mr. Burgess' direction, our band was again "number one."

Individuality Pays Off

Students in the Fine Arts Department receive a basis for future training in music, art, drama, mechanical drawing, or wood-working. A wide range of talents are found, developed, and expressed in each of these areas every year.

Some of the contributions of this Department include the Spring Serata, several choral and band concerts, art exhibitions, and the traditional presentation of Handel's Messiah by the music divisions. One of the main projects being continued this year by the art section is the Senior Court.

In each Fine Arts classroom student contributions help build the class. Each student learns from other students as well as from the instructor, touching each phase of school life. While developing their talents, they participate in the Dance and Marching Bands; All-State Band, Choir, and Orchestra; summer theatres and stage crews. They gain experiences for a wide variety of industrial and art vocations.

Without a doubt, the Fine Arts Department adds a little excitement to the daily routine at Patrick Henry.

Mr. Kinzie directs the orchestra as Carolyn Casteel, Janet Volz, and Connie Blake rehearse their Messiah solos.

David Schuyler sings for Mr. Ferguson during auditions for Freshman Choir.

Mrs. Hollans explains the importance of dramatic arts at the annual Parents' Night.

BZZZZZ!

Imagine the scene of pieces of metal, leather, and wood littered throughout the room; sawdust and shavings lying on the floor; and boys dressed in aprons and goggles creating the unusual and unique. This is the shop, where students can take a four year course ranging from basic woodworking to the study of electricity. Boys prepare required projects using a vast array of tools, drills, jig and band saws, and metal and wood lathes.

Next door silence greets the ear as students concentrate on drawing perfect straight lines and angles. Mechanical drawing requires perfect plates which show views and dimensions of different objects.

"It's only a freshman, Mr. Fulton."

Mr. Fulton gives on-the-spot assistance.

R. Anderton, R. Kleisch, and P. Hollyfield model blocks of wood.

Mr. Bishop and B. Malcolm discuss mechanical drawing problems.

Mrs. Mitchell demonstrates the use of the stove.

Home Ec. Means Plans for Future

One of the most interesting and useful courses taught at Patrick Henry is home economics. Not only girls but many boys find time to take at least one year. Any one walking past the Home Economics department second period can see a group of boys cooking a delicious meal, learning basic sewing techniques or studying home management concerning income, furnishing a home, etc.

Major emphasis of Home Economics courses is the preparation of youth for individual and family living, now and in the future. There are five divisions in the department; their purposes are the same but the depth in which they are taught vary. Even though Home Economics is fun, a lot of work and study must be put into it.

Ginger Mattox and Yvonne Hurd complete class projects.

Mrs. Lester smiles while teaching her 6th period class.

Even boys enjoy cooking, sewing, and learning to manage a home.

Mrs. Barbee explains a homework assignment to Cindy Peacher, while Wanda Sue Ratcliffe is already busy working on it.

Typing has its funny side, too, as shown by Mrs. Graybill.

ASDF??JKL;

Business plays a leading role in our modern, progressive nation. Most students take at least one business subject before graduation, and many pursue a complete business schedule. Through typing, business math, clerical practice, and shorthand, they learn various skills such as filling out income tax returns, balancing check books, the proper form for typing business letters, and figuring interest rates. These subjects are beneficial to any person, those who plan to attend college as well as those who plan to pursue business careers.

Mrs. Carter pauses coming from the faculty lounge.

Experience — Practice And Theory

Obtaining experience in merchandising and management and learning about the business world is the chief objective of the Distributive Education Department. Students achieve this knowledge by practical experience in jobs in marketing and distribution. They also learn through classroom instruction. All students who participate in this program are required to join and to take part in the club sponsored by D.E. The purpose of D.E.C.A.—Distributive Education Clubs of America—is to promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free, competitive enterprise system. Mr. Brown, the instructor, also serves as advisor to the club.

Mr. Brown takes time to discuss some business over the telephone.

G. Duty, P. Sweeney, G. Dickson, and P. Carter evaluate magazine advertisements.

Part of D.E. includes arranging a display.

Variety In Activities

Physical Education includes instruction in first aid, driver's training, health, and sports. Each class has a specific curriculum to follow, consisting of a variety of sports and classroom activities. This year the students taking physical education participated in basketball, volleyball, wrestling, gymnastics, modern dance, archery, soccer, track and field, football, and weight lifting.

Each year students and teachers present a physical education show to display skills and to raise funds for new equipment. This year's show was given during April when the Manitowoc students were visiting us.

Room Of Knowledge

When asked what they considered to be the objectives of having a school library, Miss Lemon, head librarian, and Mrs. McNeace, assistant, replied, "To assist students in work and pleasure, to broaden the students' viewpoint, and to increase their knowledge."

Students choose from 13,596 books and 55 magazines which are available for use during study halls as well as before and after school.

Eleven students aid the librarians in their work. Sue Adams, Debby Peebles, Laura Keyes and Janis Clark come at 8 o'clock to open the doors for the busy day ahead. Debra Mays, Ann Thornton, Doug McClure and David Cox work during school hours, and Paul Wantzelius, Lorraine Huels and Pam Shorter report to work until the library closes at 4 o'clock.

Enthusiasm: Keynote In Student Government

Our Student Government Association is known as one of the most effective and well-organized in the state. Modeled after our national government, it is headed by the Cabinet officers, Executive Council, and House of Burgesses, which consists of all the homeroom presidents. Its function is to co-ordinate activities and encourage school spirit.

This year we were privileged to host several conferences, including the Governor's Conference on Education which was attended by many state and regional dignitaries.

House of Burgesses representatives were: R. Aliff, C. Blake, C. Bogese, L. Bondurant, P. Bowden, D. Bowers, B. Brown, S. Bulbin, T. Craig, B. Crawford, P. Davis, J. Elliott, J. Hall, D. Hanes, M. L. N.H.S. Elects Record Number

Fifty-five students, one of the largest groups ever elected at Patrick Henry, were inducted into the National Honor Society at the annual assembly on February 23. Membership in the NHS has come to be known nationally as one of the highest honors that can be granted to a high school student. This organization, started in 1921 to stimulate scholarship in smaller schools of the country, recognizes character, service, leadership, and scholarship as its ideals.

Officers for this year were: John Eure, pres.; Jack Ross, vice pres.; Diane Spicer, sec.; and Joyce Meador, treas. Miss Shanks was the sponsor.

The seniors elected into the NHS were: N. Adams, S. Adams, C. Blake, L. Bowen, B. Bowers, D. Coulter, D. Davis, D. Fox, R. Gilbert, A. Gilmer, R. Goodall, A. Grady, E. Hancock, T. Hanes, B. Hilts, A. Hodges, E. Johnson, G. Kurshan, J. Lancaster, S. Lex, A. Rutherford, S. Sink, R. Thatcher, R. Turner, P. Wantzelius, and J. Winders. The juniors were: B. Andrews, T. Bagby, C. Bishop, T. Calhoun, N. Cundiff, D. Daves, N. Elliott, L. Hall, J. Hamilton, M. L. Hawkins, M. Hicks, K. Hilts, N. Johnson, P. Klein, M. Livingstone, S. McAfee, J. Martin, R. Merritt, D. Morse, D. Mullen, C. Schneider, J. Happy Birthday, Quill & Scroll

A fortieth anniversary is quite an occasion and Quill and Scroll made the most of it with a birthday dinner in April. This was one of two banquets held this year for the induction of new members from the staffs of school publications.

Speakers at the dinners were Henry Taylor, author of Horse Show at Midnight and a faculty member of Roanoke College, and Joseph Cohron, dramatist, faculty member at Virginia Western.

Our chapter is a charter member of the Quill and Scroll International Honor Society for High School Journalists and stresses scholarship as well as good journalism through photography, layout, art, and copy.

Officers were: Janice Horner, pres.; Judy Lancaster, vice pres.; Diane Spicer, sec.; and Ellen Hancock, treas.

Truce Signed By Modern Language Clubs

This year the French, Spanish, and Russian Clubs united their membership to form a new organization named the Modern Language Club. This joint effort came about in the hope that many different cultures and ideas could be presented to more of the student body.

Several guests appeared before the club. Slides were used to illustrate the talk on South America by Miss Shultz, student teacher for Miss Wolfenden, and the one on Russia by Dr. W. Hanchett. Father Roy, a Catholic priest, discussed Spain, and Mr. Robert Burton of Lyon, France, spoke on the educational system in France and compared it with his observations of education in the United States.

Encouraging interest is the first aim of the club, so a foreign language course is not required for membership. The French publication, La Liberte, is sponsored by the club.

Modern foreign language teachers Mrs. Spencer, Mr. Frost, Mrs. Wreden, Miss Wolfenden, and Mrs. Petersen served as advisors.

Club Members Attend JCL State Meeting

Thirty-eight members of the Junior Classical League, or Latin Club, traveled to Alexandria to attend the state convention in October. The highlight of their trip was the election of club treasurer, Julia Martin, to the office of state vice president. The club members also visited Washington, D.C. for a day and a half. Special attention was given to the influence of Greek and Roman architecture on the Nation's capital.

Founded to promote interest in the Greek and Latin languages and cultures, the Junior Classical League is a national organization.

Mrs. Williamson and Miss Shanks sponsor the club at Patrick Henry. Officers were: Robert Gilbert, pres., Nancy Adams, vice pres., Susan Lex, sec., and Julia Martin, treas.

Patriots Speak Out

What do you think of abortion? This and other controversial issues such as mercy killing and the John Birch Society provided the basis for open discussions in the Liberal Arts Club. Ideas about such varied topics as economics, comparative government, and Spanish art, were exchanged among the members at their meetings.

Due to a shortage of liberal-minded people at PH, membership of the club was a minimum. The officers of this unique club were Paul Felton, president; Ginny Kurshan, vice-president; Barbara Hilts, secretary; and Kathy Hilts, treasurer. The presence of their advisor, Mr. Slayton, further insured that "you can say anything here."

Under supervision of fellow members, Rodney Humphreys attempts to set up the movie projector.

Service With A Smile

There comes a time when every service club must perform a service. The job of raising and lowering the flag every day is the responsibility of the Hi-Y. Before Christmas members delivered baskets of food and clothing to needy families. The annual car wash was held to finance the club as well as to do needed work.

Senator Jim Winders and Delegate Buck Jacoby took their honored seats in the Model General Assembly in Richmond. Members also attended a district conference.

At its bimonthly meetings, interesting speakers such as an FBI agent and an Army Reserve chaplain provided inspirational ideas. Mr. Slayton was the sponsor.

From Buffet To Playday

A Y-Teen is a girl who can dress up like a Greek maiden, stomach an Around-the-World Buffet, make a fool of herself by tripping over her feet in front of eight-year-olds, and still enjoy it! Y-Teens did all these things by making a project on Greece for the Y.W.C.A., holding a buffet, and participating as teen aides in Playday, a program for small children. In addition to these projects, Y-Teens tried to achieve their goals of maturity, fellowship, and love of God.

Officers were: Rinn Turner, pres.; Myrna Moses, vice-pres.; Mary Mays, sec.; Nancy Cundiff, treas.; Grace Kelley, ICC rep.; Laura Keyes, program chm.; Diane Dern, chaplain; Kathy Hilts, world fellowship chm.; Barbara Hilts, reporter; and Connie Waring, service project chm. Miss Ludwick, Mrs. Dickerson, and Miss Bailey served as faculty advisors.

Learn By Doing

Sometime or another many students think about becoming a teacher. During school years, teachers have a major role in providing our education. The Future Teachers of America works to promote interest in the career of teaching.

A tea honoring the faculty, Career Day when members taught classes, and the FTA Convention at Hotel Roanoke gave these future teachers a chance to learn more about their proposed field. They learned to work with children by going to West End and Raleigh Court schools after school and during study halls, and through presentation of a story hour on Saturdays at the Raleigh Court Branch Library.

1. Learning a dance to teach students at West End School causes these FTAers to work after school. 2. Fun & Games — GAA

Participate with a grin—even if it kills you! It's this spirit that keeps the girls of G.A.A. trying to set new school records in endurance and friendship.

The Girls Athletic Association sponsors all girls sports and class intramurals. Through these activities and academic average, the members earn points toward athletic awards of a shield, letter, pin, or trophy. These are given at the annual spring picnic.

GAA'ers from each Roanoke high school sponsor an all-star team for varsity sports. They also hold a field day and game day.

Officers of the G.A.A. were: Jan Deyerle, pres.; Jan Nash, vice pres.; Linda Bear, sec.; Barbara Hagan, treas.; and Arlene Webster, point chairman.

Challenging, Rewarding Fellowship

"All students are invited to meet with the F.C.A. tomorrow morning at eight o'clock."

"What kinda nuts come to school that early to have a meeting?"

The announcement of an early morning Fellowship of Christian Athletes meeting might have been met with derision by some, but the athletes and coaches found their meetings well attended. Confronting youth with opportunity, challenge, and adventure in Christian life is the dynamic purpose of the local group. They are also active in district and state meetings, and some members take advantage of the summer camps and training sessions.

Funds were raised through the sale of football programs; service projects including the printing of free basketball programs and providing speakers for local churches.

Officers were: Wayne Dodson, pres.; Woody Deans, vice pres.; Larry Sherertz, sec.-treas.; Bob Bushkar, Trey Delaney and Richard Light, publicity chairmen.

Quack! Quack!

As the immortal cry of the Purple Duck still echoes throughout the gym, spirit has reached its zenith through the creation of the Pep Club. This group of strange boys dressed in blue shirts could always be seen jeering the opposition or inspiring our team. A ritual soon began with the personal body guards of the "duck" placing it in the center of the basketball court facing our opponents to bring us good luck. The "duck" survived the year with only a broken neck and now holds a honorary seat in the trophy case.

The club sponsored many bus trips to away games, helped lead the student body in cheering, and promoted enthusiasm at all times. In its inaugural year, officers were Ricky Thatcher, pres.; Roger Magerkurth, vice pres.; and Tom Peterson, sec.-treas.

Touring places of business, listening to speakers and learning about business etiquette includes only a portion of the Better Business Club program. Its purpose is to acquaint, and have better public relations, with the business world through practice, experience, and observation. Each member is required to have had at least one business subject. In club work knowledge is increased and put to use through participation. Also during the year a pot luck supper and end-of-the-year picnic are held for the members and their guests. Council Speaks For Youth

Youth Council is actually the spokesman for the youth of our valley; their goals are to show the public that most teenagers can really do constructive things, and to familiarize youth with city and state government. The members of this council helped children at West End School, attended sessions of the juvenile courts, and discussed curfew changes in Roanoke.

The officers of the P.H. chapter were: Judy Lancaster, pres.; Broaddus Fitzpatrick, vice pres.; Alice Grady, sec.; and Pam Nuckols, treas.

Sleepy, Happy Exchangees

Two weeks of fun, banquets, tours, snow, and no sleep summarize an exchange program with Manitowoc, Wisconsin, sponsored by the senior class. Departing on February 4, thirty-six students and two faculty members managed to survive a twenty-seven hour train trip, although the girls washed their hair and dried it under the hand dryer at the Chicago station. A band, waving signs, and Lincoln High students were on hand to greet them in Manitowoc.

Patriots attended classes similar to those at home, ate "brats" which looked like hot dogs but tasted like sausage, watched the ice bergs in the lake, smiled when Miss Haley appeared in slacks and parka to go tobogganing, and went to more parties than they could count.

Although it was sad leaving, the exchangees knew that their Manitowoc friends would be Roanoke-bound in April for another two weeks of fun-filled living.

The ominous clicking that can be heard in 2-204 is an indication that they're recharging their batteries. Hard Work Gets News

While most students look forward anxiously to Fridays, teachers face that day with an unusual amount of anxiety. They know how much they will have to yell at their students that day to put away their newspapers. So much do Patriots enjoy reading the articles, editorials and features of The Statesman that they can't seem to put it down.

All this enjoyment does not go unnoticed by the hard-working staff. Their smiling faces are very evident on days when the paper comes out. However, on other days there is not a smile to be seen. Creativity Sparks Quill

Q. What is a Quill?
A. (1) A feather of a goose; (2) A leaky pen; (3) Spine of a hedgehog; (4) A lute plucker; (5) Patrick Henry's superlative literary-art magazine, winner of everything but the Pulitzer Prize.

Right! All these things are Quills, but choosing number five shows extraordinary perception.

Q. How does a Quill work?
A. First, short stories, poems and essays are submitted to Quill staff. Much of this material is from members of the creative writing class. The art classes provide illustrations.

The staff members evaluate the material and the illustrations. Then begins the work of typing, editing and pasting up the "crummy dummy," and, at last, the final dummy for reproduction by offset printing.

Comprenez-vous?

Or would you rather say "tu scis"? Do you take French or Latin? Are you willing to work hard? If so, we can use you. The Language Department has two unique foreign language publications, one written in French and one in Latin.

The French magazine, La Liberté, published three times a year in cooperation with the Modern Language Club, recognizes and provides a medium of expression in French. The staff consists of qualified students with creative and original ideas.

The Latin Department has as its publication the Latin newspaper, Orator. It is distributed twice yearly with contributions from third and fourth year students. Some of the articles are written in English, but the majority of the work is done in Latin.

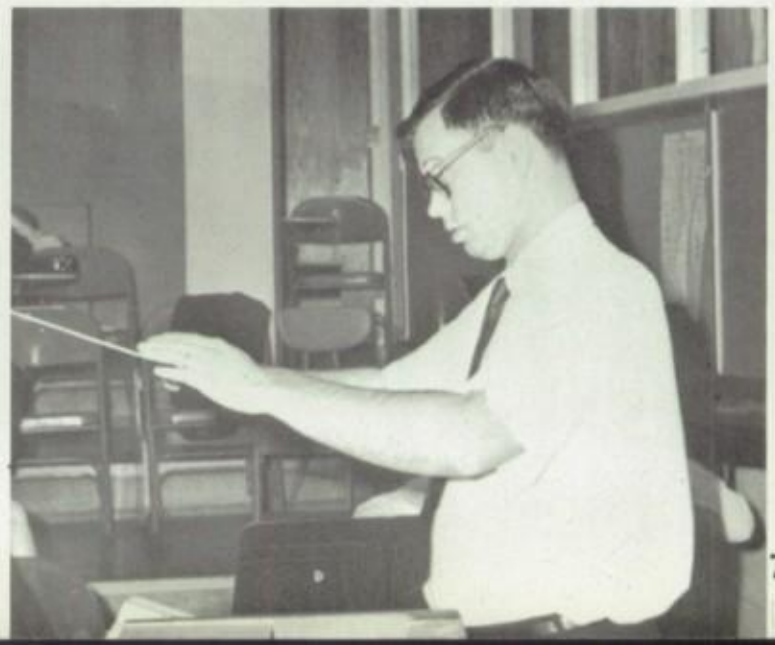
Recognition At Last!

For the first time in PH's illustrious history, the string ensemble was represented by a page in the Patriot. This was due largely to the fact that a member of the orchestra had finally been appointed to the staff. However, now that the initial step has been carried out, there is every assurance that this glaring error will not happen again.

Roanoke can consider itself fortunate in that it has one of the handful of string orchestras in the state. Since Patrick Henry has the only high school string ensemble in the city, the bulwark of the strings in the Roanoke Youth Symphony is provided each year by this school.

Orchestra provides a springboard to the Youth Symphony, Roanoke Symphony, a career in music, or simply the enjoyment of performing. Students very often learn the basics on one stringed instrument and then find they like another better, so they begin to specialize in another.

A sour note gets undesired attention from Mr. Kinzie.



Bigger and Better

As another year went by and Mr. Gene Ferguson developed another gray hair, one hundred members of the Advanced Choir improved one hundred percent and retained the reputation that they worked so hard to achieve. Not only was this year's choir the largest that has ever been at Patrick Henry, but also this was the first time there has been an A Capella Choir, a group of exceptionally talented students singing in a small choir without accompaniment. They met every other school morning at 8:00 for rehearsal and were featured in a Christmas show sponsored by the Grandin Court P.T.A.

Arlington was the center of the choir tour this year. Performances were also given in Alexandria, at Ferrum Junior College, Longwood College, and E. C. Glass High School.

The freshman choir gave evidence of their achievement when they participated in the final concert. Although they had few performances, they received sound training for advanced choir.

Best Athletes Honored

1. Phil Bushkar displays his high-scoring shooting form. Bushkar was voted by sports writers as a member of the All-Western District and All City-County teams. 2. The greatest praise an athlete can receive is that of his coaches and team mates. Dee Copenhaver was elected by the football team as the Outstanding Player of the Year, as well as the Best Lineman and Patrick Henry's sole representative in The Roanoke Times "Player of the Week" series. 3. John Klein, record-breaking distance runner, was chosen as the outstanding member of the Cross Country team and captain of the track team. Klein, who broke every long distance record ever held by a Patriot, finished first in the City-County and Western District meets and twelfth in the State meet.

PH Hit By Injuries Worst Season Ever

Coach Al McClearn's first year as head football coach was full of disappointments and frustrations. Plagued with injuries, the gridders finished with a 4-6 record, the worst in the history of the school.

Basically a strong team, the Patriots began the season rated as a contender for the Western District title. Harry Norris received a severe knee injury and was soon joined on the sidelines by Danny Richardson, Bob Bushkar, Steve Yost, Trey Delaney, Wayne Stanley, Marty Yuhas, Jimmy Richardson, Jim Bailey, Jack Ross, Phil Bushkar, Joe Kephart, and quarterback, Wayne Dodson. All were either out for the season or were slowed down by injuries.

Andrew Lewis, always a strong contender for the state championship, soundly beat the Patriots in the opener. However, Jefferson and Halifax fell by scores of 26-14 and 48-7. Two school records were set during the Halifax game: the most points and the most extra points, when Bob Blane kicked for six. Fleming dropped the Patriots with a 24-0 trouncing, a bitter defeat because of the rivalry between the schools.

1966 PH football team: Sitting: B. Evans, D. Richardson, J. Ross, H. Brown, W. Dodson, H. Norris, D. Copenhaver, T. Collette, W. Stanley, and M. Yuhas. Kneeling: L. Utt, P. Bushkar, R. Eddy, B. Homer Ferguson fell 13-7 when Terry Collette and Wayne Dodson each scored touchdowns. Patrick Henry then hit its lowest point of the season: three straight defeats to Richlands, Danville, and E. C. Glass. Richlands rolled over the Patriots 24-0. Danville won 13-7 as the Patriots could not muster an offensive punch. Glass defeated the Patriots 7-0 in a terrific defensive battle. Dee Copenhaver was named Outstanding Lineman of the Week by the Roanoke World News for his defensive efforts.

At Northside the next week, although hampered by more injuries, PH rolled past the Vikings 14-0. The season concluded with the homecoming game against Kecoughtan—a Patriot loss, 28-7.

A losing season does have one advantage; it gives hard-won experience to many players who might not have seen action. Freshmen were joining the line to replace injured varsity men as early as the Northside game. Their performance next year should reflect their seasoning.

Patriots Suffer Hot-Cold Season

Hurt by the loss of four starters from last year's 20-2 squad, the basketball team finished the '67 season with a 10-10 record.

Although lacking in experience, height, and team co-operation, the Patriots had no trouble getting started with two quick victories. All dreams were shattered when Andrew Lewis rolled by the Mossermen in an easy 82-58 contest. Lewis' Coach Miley summed up the rest of the season when he said, "Patrick Henry is a hot and cold team. They look great once and terrible next."

Tied for third in the district at season's end, the Patriots edged Fleming for the third time, 73-71, in the district tournament, but lost for the third time to E. C. Glass, 59-49, who later became state champions.

Phil Bushkar finished sixth in city-county scoring with a 19.6 average, made the All-Western District and the All-City-County squads, and placed on the second state-wide team.

Sophomore Mike Quigley, brought up from the Jayvees at mid-season, contributed a great deal in the center position. Wayne Dodson, with a 17-2 average, made the second team All-Western District.

To be a good wrestler, a boy must have skill, strength, hustle, desire, agility and knowledge. This year Coach Leon Briggs' charges were blessed with all these traits and as a result the wrestlers posted Patrick Henry's best record: finished second in the Western District and third in the Western Regional Tournament.

The grapplers' 9-5 record boasted victories over City-County powers William Byrd, Jefferson, and a near-victory over undefeated Group I-B champion Northside.

Bill Kirk, who finished the regular season with an undefeated 12-0-1 record in the unlimited division sparked the Patriots. Dee Copenhaver had a 13-1 record to finish second in the Western Regional Tournament. Richard Light, 11-3, won his weight division in the tournament.

Of the twelve Patriot starters, eight had winning records and seven placed in the top four in the tournament.

Football & Basketball Junior Varsity Style

In the mixed up world of athletics, football certainly held a place of distinction. The Patriots came out on the very short end at Danville, 0-19, then put up great struggles against Salem-foe Andrew Lewis and crosstown-rival Jefferson before succumbing to both. The Varsity got drubbed by Fleming; the coaches combined the JV and Varsity into one team. After a couple of weeks of putting each other in the hospital, the JV tied Glass. Pretty good, considering no time to practice because the team was chosen the day before the game. In the season's climax the Patriots lost to Glenvar.

A winning season of ten out of eighteen games including a one point win over arch-rival Glass belongs to the basketball team. Five of the JV losses went to two teams: three to Lewis and two to Martinsville. However, the difference was more than made up by two sweeps over Halifax and Danville, the latter being by a combined total of three points.

Freshmen: Football & Basketball

Freshman basketball season, although not quite successful, deserves a close look. Against an assortment of opposing players, the Frosh gained two wins over Lee, one over Jackson, one over Glenvar, and a forfeit over Booker T. Washington, who, after winning by two points, continued their zest by tearing up the Woodrow Wilson lockers.

Freshman Footballers also had an unfortunate season, losing close ones to Jefferson and a 7-9 game to Linkhorn, a school near Lynchburg. A not-so-close 0-21 loss went to Andrew Lewis, but wins over Fleming and Glenvar were recorded. A number of games were rained out, including those with Danville and Glass. It was a long, frustrating season; the big surprise is not that they lost three but that they won two after the loss in preseason scrimmage to Roanoke Catholic.

1. Action was heavy against Monroe. 2. Many Freshmen dressed out for varsity. 3. Mr. Baker (center), basketball coach. 4. Ball carrier leaves a long trail. 5. Action rough as Lewis drives against Patriots. 6. Trying for first down yardage. 7. The reason "backs" make yardage. 8. Coach Mosser plans second half strategy. 9. A power sweep that didn't work. 10. Putting it in for two.

Members of the cross country team included S. Robertson (kneeling, left), J. Fant, R. Anderton, L. Cundiff, R. Painter, M. Willis, F. Elliot, J. Klein, D. Livingston, S. Campbell. (Standing, left) Coach Baker, B. Goodall, D. Cowling, P. Wright, T. Peterson, T. Calhoun, W. Deans, C. Bogese, B. Abbot, R. Ripley, B. Jacoby, D. Morse and P. Barbee.

Harriers Undefeated

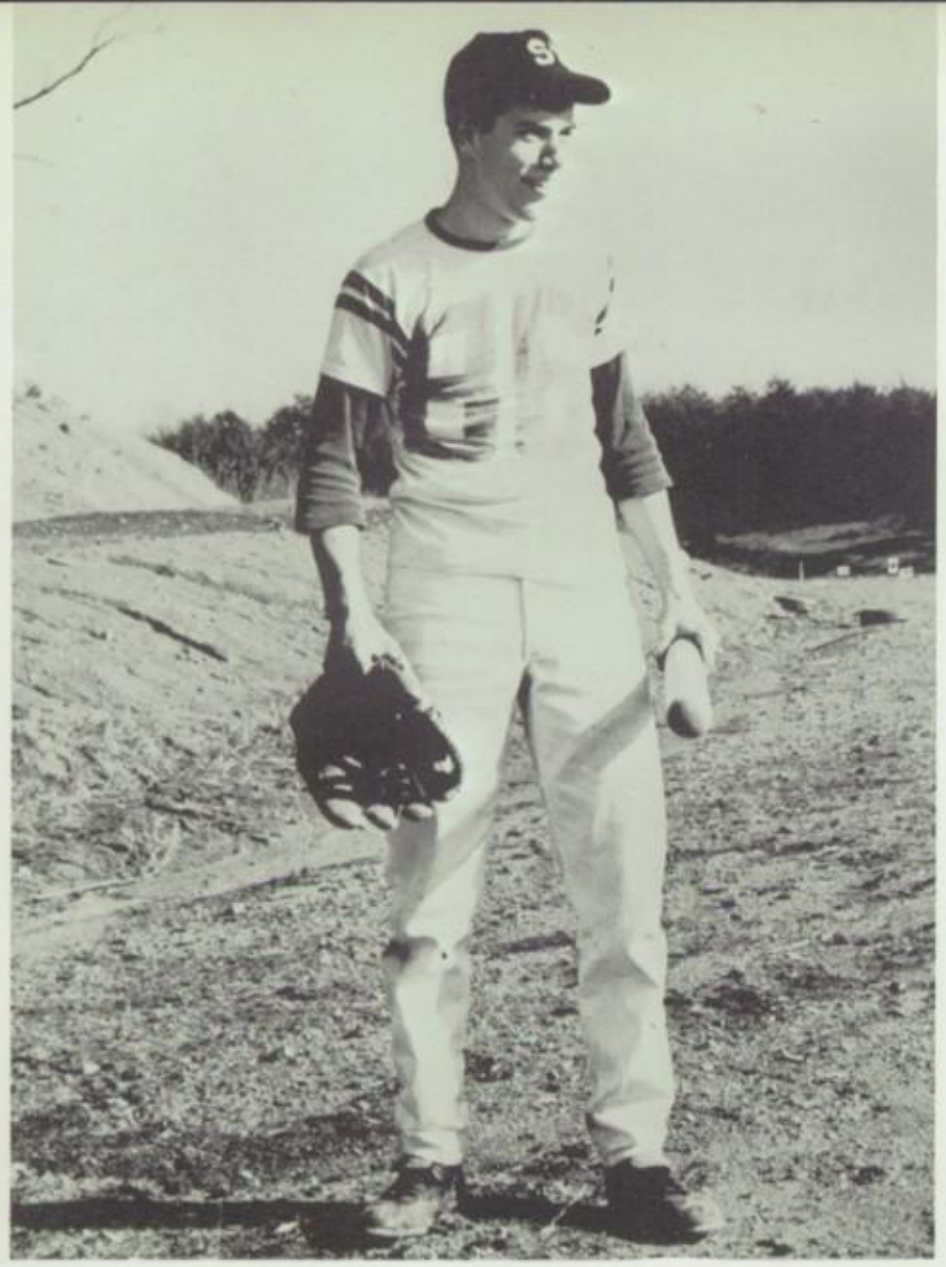
Coached by Mr. Steve Baker, the cross country team again went undefeated in regular season. The Harriers were invited to a state-wide invitational cross country meet at the College of William and Mary where they placed fifth in a field of 26 teams. Later they won a first place trophy in the city-county race at Northside High School with six of the seven Patriots winning medals. At the state cross country meet in Williamsburg, the Harriers placed sixth out of 27 schools. John Klein and Bob Goodall, senior standouts, placed seventeenth and thirty-second respectively in a field of 143 runners.

John Klein, all alone, out in the lead.

Spring Sports Hopes High

Track, under Coach Baker, continues to be a strong sport with John Klein, John Moody, Dickie Painter and Mike Quigley returning. Aiming at the championship, the team gained third in the district last year. In baseball, Coach Benson faces his first year with seven returning starters who helped build a 10-11 record.

After placing second in the state and gaining the district championship, the tennis team was hard hit by graduation, but has young players with commendable records. Coach Ferguson's golfers are inexperienced, but show much enthusiasm. They follow the team which placed second in state and district last year.



Bill Moses goes into spring practice with a big grin.

Go Onward Patriots Never To Yield!

Inexhaustible enthusiasm, a big grin, a loud voice, a high jump, and unfailing hope—that's a cheerleader. Whether welcoming the players onto the field or leading the student body in the pep song, this year the cheerleaders filled the bill.

Kept busy during the summer and throughout the year, the girls practiced cheers, made posters, participated in cheering clinics, and led cheers at games and pep assemblies.

Cheering to their hearts content, our squad carried home second runner up honors from the valley wide cheer rally.

Allison Smithey, Katherine Underwood, and Jill Butler arouse spirit among the students.

1. Candy Johnson, Harry Norris, Sarah Hatcher, Trey Delaney, Mary Lynn Hawkins, and Wayne Stanley gleam as they practice Adagio. 2. Ann Fisher instructs Martha Hicks on the uneven bars while Scott Turner spots. 3. Linda Bear, high scorer, demonstrates her shot. 4. Mrs. Gravely points out some funny mistakes to the JV volleyball team. 5. Miss Duffy gives final instructions for the game. 6. Nancy Elliott shoots while Linda Bear blocks in the championship game with Fleming. 7. The varsity volleyball team watches and hopes as Frances Hutcheson taps the ball.

Will To Win, Spirit — A Fine Record

Girls' teams at Patrick Henry posted one of the best records in the history of the school. Throughout the year they displayed superb sportsmanship and excellent skill. The guidance of their coaches, Miss Duffy, Mrs. Gravely, and Mrs. Patsel, has aided them in their victories.

The varsity volleyball team had an outstanding season, obtaining runner-up in the city-county tournament. The Junior Varsity team had the same success. Topping the record, the Freshman team was the city-county champion.

Getting off to a smashing start, the Patrick Henry "Purple Grapes" beat North Cross on the basketball court. Continuing their fine play, they beat Roanoke Catholic and many other teams to compile a 10-2 record and finish as runner-up in the city-county championship.

The Girls' State Gymnastic Tournament at Falls Church, Virginia, kept team members busy. Spring brought tennis and soft ball, more practice, and more victories.

Class of 1970

Enthusiastic freshmen started the year with a bang by shattering the school voting record. 92% flocked to the polls to cast votes for their officers. Their zealous school spirit was felt in all phases of school life.

Highlights of the first year in a new school came as the freshmen challenged the sophomores to a rip-roaring game of volleyball, sponsored traditional Slave Day, and raised money on Bermuda Day in the spring. The Steering Committee put their all into these projects to make them both profitable and successful.

Class of 1969

With two ambitious projects to raise money for their class, the Sophomores sailed through an exciting year.

During the winter, a hilarious basketball game against the Freshman Class was the first project, with the co-sponsors dividing the profits.

Then, the Class of 1969 decided to try a new project in the hope that it would become a tradition. A Valentine's Dance complete with refreshments and live music provided by the Mystics, a local band, was presented on February tenth for the whole school.

Imagine their surprise when, on tallying their funds, they discovered they had lost less money than any previous Sophomore class!

With all these activities, the Sophomores, with the help of Mrs. Sarah Bowen, their advisor, had a very successful year and eagerly look forward to their struggle as juniors.

1. The Sophomore officers surrounding Mrs. Bowen, advisor, are (left) P. Coulter, pres.; B. Knisely, sec.; B. Fitzpatrick, exec. council rep.; C. Bennett, vice pres.; T. Dabney, treas. 2. B. Barber teases T. Flora at the trailer. 3. A. Hammerstrom and J. Meredith try the fire extinguisher. 4. D. Hatchett spends most of his time at the water fountain. 5. Sleeping in class is J. Wilhelm's favorite pastime. 6. Why are M. Gerr, E. Gregory, O. Nelson and K. Landreth carrying that table?

Class of 1968

Projects, college boards, Kiwanis Guidance Programs, the traditional prom—these are but a few of the many hustle and bustle turmoils the Juniors faced..

As the winter months crept in, the halls echoed with Incognito. Minnie Pearl backed this Junior Class project which proved to be a financial success for the class. Shy teachers made their stage debuts, winning applause and praise outside the realms of their teaching careers.

Again, as in two previous years, the juniors promoted traditional respect for the flag.

Many of the jolly juniors were shaken out of their happy-go-lucky state as they tackled PSAT's and college boards for the first time.

Class of 1967

"Slave Day," the onslaught of the Divots at a sophomore romp, a competitive basketball game featuring the juniors vs. the seniors, and Paradise Isle, the prom which we gave the class of 1966, are all highlights of our high school years. Mrs. Tice, our class sponsor, helped to make these projects both possible and successful.

New privileges, such as being first in the cafeteria serving line, and new challenges, such as applying for college, meant the beginning of our biggest and final year. We were Seniors. This year, outside the traditional Senior Leadership Day and Senior Day festivities, we sponsored a two-week exchange program with Manitowoc, Wisconsin.

After four great years of hard work and many memories, the class of 1967 reached the grand finale—graduation!

MEN OF PROGRESS

"The men most sought after today are those who have the qualities of self-reliance, courage, resourcefulness and independence of judgment that all through history have distinguished superior men from their inferiors. Business needs the contributions of men who can escape the bonds of conformity to recognize emerging new problems and offer fresh solutions. What is progress but successful adaptation to new problems and opportunities?"

One Block from the City Stadium at Roanoke City Mills on Jefferson S.

Producing a yearbook takes a lot of work on the part of many people. It has been a long, sometimes difficult, and often amusing year. My thanks go to all the members of the staff who worked so well; to student photographers Barry Glassner, Ira Katz, Paul Wantzelius, Bob Hammersley, and professionals Mr. E. Howard Hammersley, Jr., Mr. Jim Gentry and Mr. Art Cournoyer of Gentry Studios for their very necessary aid; to the Times World Corporation; to faculty members Mrs. Emily Kelly and Mr. Ralph Knight; to Mr. Grubbs, Mr. Foster, and Mr. Hudson of the custodial staff for being around during those long work nights; to Mr. Cal Gibson of Taylor Publishing Company for his advice and understanding and to his son, Jimmy, for entertaining us on Saturday work sessions; to my mother, Mrs. Kurshan, for special typing; to Mr. Pitzer for his support, and to all the students and faculty who gave their cooperation. Thank you is not enough for Mrs. Mary Brooks, our faculty advisor. Without her help, guidance, and innumerable hours of work this book would not have been possible.

—to each of you, my warmest wishes that you will consider the Patriot worthy of your helpfulness.

Ginny Kurshan, Editor

Roberto,
Good luck at William and Mary next year. Have it this summer
but save some for W-M.
